HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

National Trust for Historic Preservation®
Save the past. Enrich the future.

Thank you.

We extend our most sincere thanks to the individuals, foundations, and corporations whose support from July 1, 2019, through June 30, 2020, saved historic places nationwide. Your generosity is preserving our shared cultural heritage as a source of courage, comfort, and inspiration for all Americans.

With you, we are telling a fuller American story and creating a nation where all people see their history, stories, and potential in the places around us and spend their lives rooted in the places they love. Thank you for your support.

ON THE COVER AND LEFT: Your generosity helped to restore the historic landscape around our National Trust Historic Site at Lyndhurst. With your support, we kept Lyndhurst's beautiful gardens open during the pandemic, continuing their long tradition as a place of healing and solace for Americans.

TAWANI Foundation

The vision and generosity of COL (IL) Jennifer Pritzker, ARNG (Ret.), founder and president of the TAWANI Foundation, are ensuring that all Americans know our shared history through a fuller telling of our nation's story. Over the past decade, TAWANI's generosity has expanded our access to military history through National Trust campaigns to preserve and restore the Milwaukee VA Soldiers Home, Battle Mountain Sanitarium, and the Mountain View Officers Club. Most recently, TAWANI's leadership of The Campaign for Where Women Made History is helping women gain preservation job skills through the Hands-on Preservation Experience crews, and uplifting the unsung history of Edith Farnsworth, the pioneering doctor who commissioned Ludwig Mies van der Rohe to create the iconic Farnsworth House, now a National Trust Historic Site. Generous support from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation made possible more than $1.6 million in Action Fund grants this year to uplift the stories of 27 African American heroes and places, including the New York house museum (pictured) honoring the legacy of inventor Lewis Latimer. PHOTO BY ADRIAN SAS

African American Cultural Heritage Action Fund

Thanks to generous friends like you, the African American Cultural Heritage Action Fund has invested nearly $24 million to uncover, uplift, and preserve the places where African American artists, activists, and achievers made their mark and changed the world. The Action Fund is the largest preservation campaign ever undertaken to preserve Black history in the places where it happened. With you, we are telling a fuller American story and creating a nation where all people see their history in the places around us. Special thanks to the philanthropic leaders who have supported the Action Fund with pace-setting gifts of $50,000 or more since 2017:

Community members and friends connect at Cooper-Molera Adobe, a National Trust Historic Site in Monterey. Like thousands of other cultural venues across the country, our sites were severely impacted by the coronavirus pandemic. Matching funds by the Wilson Trust and support from the National Trust Resiliency Fund have helped address these challenges. PHOTO BY ANGELA DICENZO

Thanks to all who joined us this spring to preserve America's cultural heritage as a source of courage, comfort, and inspiration in these challenging times. We are especially grateful for the steadfast friendship of the trustees of the Robert W. Wilson Charitable Trust, who recognized the serious impacts of the coronavirus epidemic and expanded their remarkable legacy of transformational change at the National Trust by committing more than $1.6 million in critical matching funds. In addition, pace-setting support from the National Trust Council jump-started a new National Trust Resiliency Fund to help secure our programmatic impact and financial stability.

The Campaign for Where Women Made History

We extend our sincere thanks to the Americans who stepped forward to help us launch The Campaign for Where Women Made History, shaping how women's history is recognized and honored by elevating places across the country where women of all backgrounds, ages, beliefs, and identities have made a meaningful difference in their communities and in the world. We thank the following supporters for their leadership to preserve women's stories and places:

Leslie and Clifford Hudson

True champions for America's cultural heritage, Leslie and Clifford Hudson are telling a fuller American story through their two decades of support. In 2017, their passion and leadership helped to launch the African American Cultural Heritage Action Fund, and they remain strong champions for that effort. This year they stepped forward with a $100,000 gift to uplift the overlooked African American history of Oklahoma City's Lyons Mansion and Brockway Center, and help to permanently endow the position of Action Fund executive director. We are deeply grateful for their vision and generosity.

NATIONAL TRUST COUNCIL

As the National Trust's premier donor recognition society, the National Trust Council is the lifeblood of our work. We extend our heartfelt thanks to our Council members, who support the organization in a variety of ways, including robust leadership, longstanding support, and annual contributions of $10,000 or more.

The National Trust has field operations across the country, including in Atlanta, Chicago, Denver, District of Columbia, Houston, Los Angeles, New York City, and San Francisco, where our staff focus on place-based preservation and local, state, and federal advocacy for preservation-friendly policies. They work closely with an ever-growing network of statewide and local partner organizations and with local preservationists nationwide.

North Carolina's Mars Hill Rosenwald School was one of more than 5,000 schools and related buildings built by Booker T. Washington and philanthropist Julius Rosenwald to educate African American children in the South during segregation. A generous challenge grant from the Alice Rosenwald Fund is providing tools, funding, attention, and support for the Rosenwald Schools' legacy of empowerment. PHOTO BY NANCY PIERCE
